

FACTSHEET

Erich Pommer Institut gGmbH

Who We Are

The Erich Pommer Institut (EPI) is one of the leading providers of professional training in the German and European audiovisual landscape.

EPI was founded in 1998. The institute was named after the German film producer Erich Pommer, who, in addition to his interest in technical innovations, was committed to the promotion of young filmmakers and the training and further education of his employees

EPI is a non-profit limited liability company by the Film University Babelsberg KONRAD WOLF and the University of Potsdam. As an affiliated institute of the Film University, the EPI acts as a central link between the audiovisual industry, academia and research.

What We Do

Our programs focus on media management, media law as well as AI in film & media, leadership and diversity for media and film professionals.

EPI's training courses are designed to be extra-occupational. That includes compact seminars, workshops lasting several days, two-year executive master's degree programs, conferences, online courses and in-house training.
